HAS TAX EXTRAVAGANCE

MORTGAGED YOUR HOME?

There are three categories of public indebtedness which today constitute a heavy burden on the American taxpayer—that of the states, that of the federal government and that of the cities. And serious as the first two are, the last is probably the worst.

The record of city governments might be expressed thus: Bond issues, more bond issues, and then defaults! A recent survey indicates that 2,048 city governments are in default on securities to the tune of $1,000,000,000. Another survey places the total debt of defaulting cities with populations of 25,000 or more, at $939,000,000—about ten per cent of the total debt for all cities, towns, boroughs and villages.

When a town defaults on its bonds, it means that it has raised taxes beyond the point where the taxpayers can meet them, and that there is nothing to do but let the bondholders take the loss. And it means also that, during this process of increasing taxes, businesses have been forced to the wall, jobs lost and property confiscated and taken out of productive use.

The price of economical city government is constant watchfulness on the part of the local taxpayers. There must be drastic retrenchment in almost every community if further defaults and municipal bankruptcies are to be avoided. Efficiency must displace political business experiments, political patronage—graft and duplication of effort and overly-extravagant plans for community development must be outlawed. Otherwise the inevitable result will be more ruined businesses, more homes and farms lost for taxes, and more worthless municipal bonds.

HEADED FOR WHAT?

In commenting on government's invasion of the field of private business, a leading western citizen who has created employment for thousands of men by developing a number of the West's natural resources, says:

"It's a pity the people who have homes and maybe some small investments and savings, as well as those who aspire to such possessions, cannot be brought to realize the scourge that is arising to plague them (tax-exempt government business competing with highly-taxed private business) to the end not only of destroying their possessions, but depriving them of all opportunity to live otherwise than as charges of a bureaucratic absolutism, and in much the same way as now applies, so far as living conditions are concerned, to the inhabitants of the public almshouse.

"One would think that the history of the development of this nation should be sufficiently fresh in the memories at least of the native-born, to inspire an entirely different conception of present-day tendencies than that now prevalent. Maybe, after all, we have got to resign ourselves to the dismal spectacle of the entire constitutional and economic structure of the country in ashes before a misguided public awakens to the fact that it is being devoured by the flames that it now looks upon as an interesting pyrotechnic entertainment."

PRESS FREEDOM ESSENTIAL

In commenting on political terrorism in Germany, which is largely made possible by strict censorship of the press, and the insistence of American newspapermen that nothing in a newspaper code in the United States should interfere with constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press, General Johnson, in a recent statement, said:

"For a long while I thought sincerely that the newspaper insistence on writing into their code a clause saving their constitutional rights was pure surplusage. But now I see more clearly why these gentlemen were apprehensive."

Absolute freedom of the press is the greatest guarantee the American people have for life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

HARBINGERS OF PROGRESS

The Mining Review, in a highly jubilant editorial, reports that throughout the entire western mining area the industry is improving.

Section by section, metal mining activity is getting underway. The movement is being led, naturally, by renewed interest in gold mining, resulting from the increase in its value, and all other metals are coming in for a share of the better times.

Here's hoping that the mines will once more take their proper place in the economic sum as employers, taxpayers, and harbingers of progress.

YOUR BREAD AND BUTTER

The greatest service being rendered to our country today by editors, is their help in awakening the people to the fact that THE PEOPLE are the government, that the constitution which protects them is the greatest document in the world guaranteeing life, liberty and pursuit of happiness in social and business activity, and that encroachments and limitations which are made on it detract from the opportunities of our citizens.

The safety of American property rights lies in a widespread and general understanding of these simple basic propositions.

AGRICULTURE—THREE PHASES

Agriculture has been undergoing three distinct phases of development.

One came with depression, when prices dropped to rock-bottom, and there didn't seem to be a single bright spot on the horizon.

Another came with governmental relief efforts. These are still going on, but the farmer has discovered that the legislative power, no matter how aggressively used, cannot alone solve all his problems and bring him peace and plenty.

The third phase is characterized by the fact that an increasing percentage of American farmers are learning the doctrine that "he who helps himself is helped best." They are realizing that the way to stability and prosperity, is through determined, cohesive effort by the farmers themselves.

The farmer's weapon in this work is the cooperative. It is not subject to political considerations—it does not change in purpose and direction with a shift in the political power. It is responsive to his needs, and he and his fellow-members made its policies. It does not represent a temporary effort to bring relief—it represents long-term planning, in which the larger issues are kept always in view.

It is not an exaggeration to say that, fine as the work of the co-ops has been in the past, their period of greatest achievement still lies in the future.

WILMOT YOUTH IS FATALLY INJURED
IN BIKE ACCIDENTDale F. Kruckman Meets
Death in Unusual
Accident

Landing on his head after being hurled from his bicycle on the main street of Wilmot, Dale Kruckman, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kruckman, of Wilmot, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon. He died from concussion of the brain within two hours after the unusual accident.

Young Kruckman and a friend, Dale Kistler, of Salem, were riding slowly down the main street of the village when Dale's bicycle upset from some unknown cause. The boy was thrown to the street crashing violently on his head and shoulders.

Walked from Street

At first, it was believed the Kruckman youth had only been bruised and shaken. He walked from the street and rested a few minutes on an adjoining lawn. Witnesses called his father who carried him home.

Dale was conscious and opened the door for his father when they reached home. He became rapidly weaker before a doctor summoned from Antioch arrived at the home. There was a severe bruise on the head and concussion of the brain, the doctor reported, and the possibility of a skull fracture. The boy sank into a coma shortly before he died at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Dale was born in Wilmot, November 5, 1920, and had resided in the village during his entire life, receiving his education in the schools there. He graduated from the eighth grade in June and was ready to enter his freshman year in the Wilmot high school this fall. He was popular among his playmates and friends.

He was a member of the Wilmot Methodist Church and had a perfect Sunday school attendance for nearly five years.

The youth was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kruckman who survive him. A sister, Margaret, preceded him in death in 1919.

Rev. E. Kistler presided at the funeral services, held Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Church, and Christ Nellson, of Racine, sang. Interment was in the family plot in the Wilmot cemetery.

ACES TRIUMPH OVER DEERFIELD IN CLOSE GAME

Visitors' Lone Score Was Uncaptured; Bown Pitches
a Great Game

Morris Bown pitched one swell ball game Sunday against Deerfield, letting the visitors down with seven hits and no earned runs, bringing the Aces a 4 to 1 victory. Deerfield's only marker came in on a wild throw. The locals bunched hits in the eighth frame to drive in three runs. Nelson and Lasco got their usual hits and their blazes figured in the scoring.

Next Sunday, the Aces will play the West Side Merchant of Waukegan on the home lot. The Aces defeated this team earlier in the season 7 to 6.

HUGE NODDING PEONIES DELIGHT HEARTS IN SPRING

Best Planting Time Is From August 15 Until Freezing Time

Among one of the rivals of the world-famous tulip in popularity is the peony. These flowers are charming in village dooryards and around country homes; they are in keeping with the landscaping of large estates.

From the time the first red shoots appear with the early bulb flowers in spring, peonies are attractive. In May and June the blossoms rival all others in beauty. From midsummer to late fall the heavy deep green foliage makes a perfect background for bright annuals and perennials growing nearby.

What flowers could be more ideal for a busy person's garden? They thrive in nearly every kind of soil and in any climate where gardening can be done. They are quite free from insect pests. When the plants are once established, they will grow and bloom year after year with the least possible care.

Although peonies are sometimes successfully set out in spring, the best time for planting is from the middle of August until about time for freezing weather. During the fall the roots have time to become established so that they are all ready to grow in spring. Since peonies are such permanent plants, often lasting from five to twenty years without being moved, it is especially important that they be given a good start toward health and long life. The soil should be the richest garden loam that can be obtained, and the drainage should be the best. The bed should be prepared to a depth of two or three feet. If manure is used for enriching the soil before the roots are planted, Manure should not come in direct contact with either roots or crowns, for it is likely to cause disease.

Plant Shallow

It is important that the eyes of peony roots be set from two to three inches below the surface of the soil. If they are planted more deeply, the plants often will fail to bloom; this is one of the most common causes of disappointment. The soil should be well firmed around the roots, and plenty of water applied. After the ground is frozen, a covering of straw, marsh hay, or small evergreen boughs will help to prevent injury from alternate freezing and thawing during the winter.

There is wide choice among varieties of peonies.

Probably one of the best liked of all is the Festiva Maxima. It is so widely grown that this is the flower many people have in mind when peonies are mentioned. Huge satiny white blossoms flecked with crimson crowd each other on the plants until they almost hide the foliage. Festiva Maxima is unusually fine as a cut flower.

Claire Dubois is bright clear pink with satin sheen, and the large flower is fully double. President Taft is of more delicate hue, a dainty flesh pink; the blossoms are huge. There are equally as beautiful with flowers of soft shell pink.

Probably the first of all peonies to bloom is Tenafolia Flora Plena. Its dazzling red with pretty fern-like foliage. Officially Rubra is almost equally as early.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Fruit Juice Drinks

A new use for apples has been developed at New York State Agricultural Experiment Station, where chemists have prepared an apple juice concentrate to be used in carbonated drinks. During warm weather carbonated drinks are in great demand and the work to date indicates that natural fruit juices can be utilized through proper processing, and filtering. This will make available an apple beverage throughout the year instead of only during the fall and winter months, when cider is now used.

Screen Gooseberries

Green gooseberries can be easily stemmed by this method: Take a piece of clean screened wire (13 inches square is a good size) and place the berries upon it, about a pint at a time. Then with your hands rub the berries against the wire, gently but firmly. In this way the stems are rubbed off in a few moments and you can take the berries out stemless with no damage to your hands and nails. Gooseberries should be stemmed just as quickly as possible after they have been picked.

How to Remove Rust Stains

Rust is perhaps the most stubborn of all stains, but the following solution removes rust stains, old or new, like magic. To 10 parts of boiling rain water, add one part oxalic acid crystals. Keep this solution on hand. To remove stains, first dampen the material, then apply oxalic acid solution with a medicine dropper. Place in sun for a short time, then wash and rinse well. Seldom fails, but it is sometimes necessary to repeat the procedure a time or two.

Pickles Add Zest To Summer Dinners

Nearly every summer lunch or dinner is improved by the addition of pickles of one variety or another. Late summer and fall, too, is the time to put up pickles and preserves for the next year.

Pickled Crab Apples

Choose crab apples which are uniform in size. Wash, but do not pare. Make a speed syrup of the following: 1 quart vinegar 1 quart sugar 1 tablespoon cinnamon and cloves mixed 1 teaspoon mace and nutmeg mixed Boil all together. When cool, add the crabapples and heat gently, being careful not to burst the fruit. Let stand in the syrup over night, then pack cold in sterilized jars. Fill to within one and one-half inches of the top with syrup, then process in water bath at 180 degrees (simmering) for twenty minutes.

Color In Furnishings Used Against White

The most modern decorators are turning to the classic white as a background for the recent vogue of color in room furnishings. In one recently decorated living room, walls were found in plain white, striking a bold note with the wall-paper border in beige, grey-green and black, the colors found in the eighteenth century leaf chintz draperies. The floor is covered with a broadloom carpet in dull green, and the couch and large chairs are upholstered in one of the new heavily ribbed fabrics. White fur rugs and white lamps complete the harmony.

Even in dining table arrangements this use of color with white is successfully achieved. Bright colors in linens of the peasant type are in high favor. White porcelain dishes may be vividly contrasted against glowing orange mats and runners of hand-embroidered linen. The note of white may be carried to the center by means of porcelain birds.

Melon Rind Preserves

Cut the rind of watermelon into small dice. Soak in mild salt water over night. Drain, soak in fresh water two hours. Drain. Have ready a syrup made of one part of water to one part of sugar and brought to a boil. Add two sliced lemons for the rind of one watermelon. Cook all together until the rind is clear. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Apple Chutney

12 sour apples
2 green peppers, minced
1 red pepper, minced
1 cup seeded raisins, chopped
1 pint cold vinegar
1/2 cup currant jelly
2 cups sugar
Juice of four lemons
1 tablespoon ground ginger
1/2 tablespoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
1 tablespoon salt

Pare, core and chop the apples. Then put all ingredients together and simmer until thick. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

added a saving of as much as $50 in the purchase price. You can now obtain a big, fast Chevrolet truck for every purpose at prices among the lowest for which Chevrolet trucks have ever been sold. And these low prices bring you the same features that have made Chevrolet trucks so popular in every hauling field—the valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine—the sturdy bodies—the exceptionally heavy frame, axle, and transmission. Your Chevrolet dealer will gladly show you how Chevrolet trucks can help to reduce your hauling costs, and how easy they are to buy at these new low prices combined with convenient G.M.A.C. terms.

Father's Old Tin Box

HOW many remember father's old tin box which used to contain his valuable papers? This box was sometimes kept in the home, but usually at the bank.
The vaults of many banks, in former days, were a storeroom containing a great number of these boxes.

Compare that method with the modern safety deposit boxes which are found in banks. They are so convenient and so safely protected that every person should have one.
